FOUR SECTIONS, 34 PAGES DAY ST. LOUIS, MISSISSIPPI THURSDAY, MAY 15, 1980 SINGLE COPY, 15 CENTS VOL. 89, NO. 39

TOP CONTENDERS - Among the leading contenders for the 29th Miss USA title in judging tonight at Mississippi Coast Coliseum in Biloxi are Miss Texas, Barbara Anne Buckley, 22 of Midland, top; Miss Georgia, April Reid, 26, of Augusta, center; and Miss Arizona, Jeanean

Marie Ford, 20, of Gilbert. This trio is among the favorites of local newsmen covering the activities of the 51 contestants along the Gulf Coast during the past two weeks. The Pageant will be broadcast live by CBS (Channel 4) from 8-10 p.m. (Staff photo by Randy Ponder)

Hatchett sees Demo split as temporary

Joy Hatchett of Waveland, Hancock County member of the Mississippi State Democratic Executive Committee, expressed confidence that Saturday's walk-out by the black membership of the committee will not result in a prolonged split in the party.

"That schism was precipitated by remarks of Governor Winters, calling for the election of a 'white chairman.'"

Terming the remark "highly regrettable," Ms. Hatchett, nevertheless, feels that "too many people have worked too long and hard putting this party back together to allow one statement to permanently harm our unity."

She hopes that the dispute can be settled in four to six weeks and that there will be no continuing animosity within the ranks.

"With summer primaries and fall elections facing us, we just cannot afford the luxury of a prolonged fight. We need each other far too much."

Among the other actions taken at the week-end meeting in Jackson, she points to the election of former state Senator Ben Stone of Gulfport to the office of secretary as evidence of the continued strong voice the Gulf Coast will exercise in party decisions.

Jackson Attorney Danny Cupit was named chairman of the State Executive Committee.

Cupit had been backed by Gov. William Winter for the single committee chairman's post, a move away from the unifying double chairmanship which has held the black and white elements of the party together in recent years.

McPhail elected state's U.S. committeewoman

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Mrs. John (Evelyn) McPhail of the Diamondhead Community was elected Mississippi's national committeewoman to the Republican National Committee at a meeting of the State Central Committee in Jackson Saturday.

She was elected without opposition to a four-year term which will take her to Washington every two months for National Committee meetings.

Mrs. McPhail said the duties of the National Committee include planning the Party budget and site selection for the national convention.

Describing herself as 'typical grass-roots' politician, Mrs. McPhail feels she has reached the pinnacle of her Republican Party career.

"I see my role as trying to build the Republican Party in Mississippi on the grass-roots level. My philosophy is that it is essential to build the Party in Mississippi. Although Mississippians vote for national republican candidates they sometimes shy away from voting for Republicans locally," Mrs. McPhail explained.

"I have no other political ambitions. Grass-roots politics is almost a religion to me and my ambition is to build the party at a local level," Mrs. McPhail government, social reforms, etc. ...this bothers me," Mrs. McPhail reported.

"I want to change that feeling locally," Mrs. McPhail added.

Although Mrs. McPhail is now an active Republican she admits, "If anyone said I was a Republican when I was in college, I would have died. In those days Republicans were labeled as Wendell Wilkey's and I didn't want to be a part of that."

"I first thought about being Republican in the 1950's when Eisenhower came into office," McPhail said.

"I really got involved in the Republican Party locally when Gil

Hancock school board meets Randolph in secret session

By RICH ADAMS

The Hancock County School Board, conducted an executive session during a recess meeting Wednesday after moving to 16th Section Land Consultant Terrell Randolph's private office to 'reclassify some of the 16th Section land areas,' according to Superintendent Billy D. Sills.

The board gathered for a special meeting Wednesday morning at Randolph's request, and after reading the minutes of previous meetings and approving the April docket, moved to Randolph's office so the Hancock County Youth Court could conduct proceedings in the courtroom where the board usually meets.

Sills said Wednesday afternoon the board "reclassified some 16th Section land," but would not elaborate on what actually took place, referring all questions to Randolph.

Randolph was unavailable for comment at his office Wednesday afternoon.

The meeting may have been called because Randolph had reportedly attempted to sub-divide some 16th Section land, which the Hancock County Planning Commission said was being improperly handled.

Sills said Wednesday afternoon he is unaware of any problems Randolph may be encountering with the Planning Commission in connection with school land subdivision.

The land in question is a 16th Section parcel in the vicinity of Silver Creek Acres.

John Ladner, a Hancock County school patron, criticized the board for entering into a secret session to discuss 16th Section land.

"This is a public issue involving taxpayer's money and should be discussed in public," Ladner said.

"Executive session should only be called when discussing school personnel and disciplinary matters," he added.

Prior to entering into the secret meeting, Board Member Monvel Cuevas asked the board to examine what he considers exorbitant said.

"I feel the philosophy of the Republican Party is one most people in Mississippi have. This means basically less government, taxes and control," the committeewoman stated.

"It's ironic that Mississippians feel this way deeply and they vote opposite for candidates who want more

Pearlington bandit flees heist scene

By ELLIS CUEVAS

An all points bulletin has been issued for a suspect in the armed robbery of a route salesman in Pearlington Wednesday.

Hancock sheriff Ronald Peterson reports his office received a call at 11 a.m. from a beer truck driver whose vehicle was parked across the street from Wimpy's in Pearlington, reporting he was robbed.

Peterson said, "The driver, William Blain for Afton Beverages, of Biloxi said that he had gone into the business place to take an order. When he returned to the truck he noticed a black male, standing near his truck."

"The man approached Blain and asked him what was the time and he told him. At this time the suspect pulled a revolver believed to be a .38 caliber or .354 magnum and relieved him of $46."

He fled the scene on foot.

Sheriff Peterson stated the man was

Green Berets plan Hancock maneuvers

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A Mississippi National Guard Green Beret group is planning a land-air-water maneuver September 5-7 which will include Stearns International Airport, Jourdan River and Bay St. Louis.

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission Thursday night recommended that the County Board of Supervisors issue a 'use permit' to Company A, 2nd Battalion, 20th Special Forces Group of Camp Shelby (located south of Hattiesburg) to use Stearns International Airport from July 1, 1980 to July 1, 1981.

Major Henry J. Cook III, a Bay St. Louis attorney and commander of the Camp Shelby National Guard Camp Shelby Special Forces group, said Monday "We expect to conduct two or three other special land-air-water operations during the year using Stearns Airport."

"In September, about 50 Special Forces troops will be involved in a mission supported by another 50 Reserve Officer Training Corps students," Cook said.

The Special Forces commander said Thursday night, "We are planning low altitude parachute drops using fixed and movable winged aircraft (airplanes and helicopters). We will not interfere with normal airport operations."

"We will jump in Friday night (September 5) and we will notify the U.S. Air Force and Federal Aviation Administration. We will hit the ground

Teacher unions laud Bay school calendar

By RICH ADAMS

Local leaders of two teacher unions in the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District Monday praised Superintendent J.D. McCullough for being "open and broad minded" in recommending the 1980-1981 term begin August 19 instead of an earlier proposed September starting date.

Andrews Wilkinson, president of the Bay St. Louis Local, American Federation of Teachers, and Mary Kay Deen, president of the Bay St. Louis Local, Mississippi Association of Educators, praised McCullough during a school board meeting Monday for making the decision to open school in August so the end of the first semester coincides with Christmas vacation for the students.

Wilkinson, who has supported the August beginning date, circulated a questionnaire in February and March seeking teacher input concerning the starting date.

"Eighty percent of the 90 questionnaires were returned to me, and 86 percent of those recommended school start in August," Wilkinson told the board.

"I would like to thank the superintendent for recommending this calendar. The decision speaks well of his consideration for teachers as well as the students," the local AFT leader continued.

"Mr. McCullough was very open and broad minded to recommend this

Hancock receives $75,000 for CETA youth job program

By RICH ADAMS

Some 67 Hancock County youngsters between the ages 14 to 21 will receive jobs under the Summer Youth Employment Program this year as part of a $9.2 million allocation to Mississippi from the U.S. Department of Labor.

Paul Harris, director of the Gulf Coast Employment and Training Agency in Gulfport, said Wednesday almost $75,000 has been allocated to Hancock County for employment under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) program.

Harris said the Gulf Coast Employment and Training Agency, serving Hancock, Harrison, and Stone Counties, Wednesday finalized plans which allow eight economically disadvantaged children between the ages 14-15 to be employed by public agencies and private non-profit agencies during the summer.

Harris said an additional 59 slots have been allocated for underprivileged youth between the ages of 16-21.

"The reason there are so few jobs for children 15-years-old and under is because child labor laws limit the number of hours and jobs at which these children may work," Harris said Wednesday.

We must therefore limit the amount of children in this age group to 10 percent of the total employed," he continued.

"Hancock County has been allocated a total of $68,840 in wages and $8,134 for fringe benefits, such as social security and workman's compensation," he added.

Harris said the percentage of the total allocation is decided for each county by using a formula of 50 percent of the total unemployed and 50 percent of the economically disadvantaged in each county.

"When our council applied this to the Gulf Coast, we came up with a 12.36 percent figure for Hancock County and a 4.28 percent figure for Stone County," Harris said.

"People on our staff discussed this and, in order to create a better balance for expenditure of funds, the council passed a motion to upgrade Hancock County's percentage to 15 percent and Stone County's to 10 percent," the director explained.

"The job slots available may vary, but they are fairly precise. The monetary figures are final," he added.

Summer Youth Employment Program candidates are selected from families receiving welfare of having a lower-than-average annual income. The Mississippi Employment Security Commission locates employment for the youngsters, Harris explained.

Each youth works a 10-week summer job in community services for minimum wage, currently $3.10 per hour.

This summer is the 15th consecutive year the summer youth program has been offered, and has served more than nine million youth in that period of time, Harris explained.

Local firefighters join Allain's 'War on Arson'

By EDGAR PEREZ

Two members of the Hancock County Arson Squad this week attended the first arson seminar sponsored by Insurance Commissioner George Dale in his recently proclaimed 'War on Arson' in Mississippi.

Jay Marsh of the East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department and Hancock Arson Squad chief, and Ed Friloux, Diamondhead fire administrative officer and a member of the county arson squad, attended the Tuesday program at the Jacksonian Hotel in Jackson.

Mississippi Attorney General Bill Allain was special guest speaker at the event.

Instructor was John Barracato, retired chief deputy of the New York City Fire Investigation Squad and fire consultant for Aetna Insurance Company.

Summer science camp deadline is May 31

Deadline for applications for Gulf Coast Junior College's Perkins Campus summer science camp is Saturday, May 31, announced biology instructor Dr. David Schwab.

Schwab, workshop director, said students will be notified of acceptance by Tuesday, June 3. The event will begin Monday, June 9 and end Friday June 13.

The Camp is open to students who have completed the seventh grade through high school. The program includes lab work, field trips, lectures, seminars and recreation.

For more information on cost contact Dr. Schwab through the admissions office at GCJC's Perkins Campus, 801-928-5211.

"It was brought out at the seminar that Dale is the first state insurance commissioner in the United States to sponsor this kind of seminar and the first to 'declare war on arson,'" Friloux reported.

Some 274 fire and law enforcement officials and insurance company representatives attended Tuesday's event.

Friloux said an association of Mississippi insurance companies have agreed to underwrite costs in a $1,000 reward program for information leading to the arrest and conviction of an arson suspect.

The program was authorized by the Mississippi Legislature two years ago, but the solons failed to provide funds for the measure.

Under the reward program, some 76 billboards are expected to be erected around the state listing a 'hot-line' telephone number to be used in supplying information on arson cases.

"Arson is the number one crime in the United States today—the United States leads the world in fires, fire deaths and arson," Friloux pointed out, adding, "We would like to be last in these categories."

In addition, the Mississippi State Fire Academy in Pearl Saturday sponsored a seminar on 'Interviewing and counseling juvenile fire setters.'

Attending that seminar were Friloux, Fire Captain Rodney Aguzin, Security Captain Delbert Ashcraft and Firefighter Robert Clark, all of Diamondhead.

The U.S. Fire Administration co-sponsored the Pearl meeting which featured Captain Joe B. Day of the Los Angeles Fire Department Arson Squad and Ms. Cathy Lohr of the North Carolina State Fire Marshal's Office.

That course dealt with the psychology of dealing with the juvenile fire setter and techniques of possibly 'nipping in the bud' those impulses which could lead the child to becoming an arsonist, Friloux reported.

Bayou Cadet icehouse construction delayed

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
J. Elliott Casanova of Pass Christian said Tuesday morning he would not begin construction on his proposed $350,000 icehouse at Bayou Cadet this year because it could not be completed in time for the upcoming shrimp season.

"It's a physical impossibility to build this year. I lost time in getting a lease together and being a seasonal business, it would be stupid to open in the middle of the shrimp season," Casanova explained.

"I've got to be operational by May 15," Casanova said.

"I also couldn't find a contractor to put in the plant in the short time I had to build it," Casanova added.

Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission Director W. Wilson Webre reported at a Thursday commission meeting of Casanova's decision to delay icehouse construction until next year. Commissioner J.C. Baxter asked Webre, "Is Casanova going to put up his ice plant?"

Webre replied, "Yes, but we're sure he's not going to build this year."

"I know he was all ready to go, but we went through this before with other people when we tried to rush things through," Webre said.

Later in the meeting Commissioner Victor Frankiewicz asked Webre, "What do you want to do with the Bayou Cadet dredging permit?"

The permit would allow the deepening of the channel to the icehouse wharf.

Webre replied, "Well, we ought to get the permit then we can get an extension if we need it."

"I feel we just need to slow down on this," Webre added.

Casanova said Tuesday, "The iceplant is definitely going to be put in."

"It will take about four months to completely construct the plant and a canal will also have to be dredged to the plant," Casanova stated.

"The land elevation at Bayou Cadet is about four feet above sea level and I want to go up six-eight feet higher with my building foundation," Casanova reported.

"There will be 200 tons of ice stored in the building and to hold that kind of weight it takes a hell of a foundation. We will have to drive piling 32-feet down to hold the concrete foundation," Casanova explained.

"I've got to hit the first shrimp season for the plant to be economically feasible. The plant will probably run about $350,000 to build," Casanova said.

"The plant is all automated and I want to go with everything new. All the equipment will be constructed out of stainless steel and I expect it to last at least 10-years without any repairs," Casanova reported.

When queried about the proposed Bayou Cadet bulkhead with tiebacks extending 30-feet into the icehouse property Casanova said, "I had to also wait for a report of where the tiebacks would be located."

"My building will have to be located on the back of my property line behind the tiebacks and I will have to get off-sets because of the fill I'll be bringing in," Casanova explained.

"I also lost two months dealing with the Pass Christian fishermen when I had planned on putting the plant there. They wanted a 20-year feasibility study for an ice plant at their harbor," Casanova said.

"Hancock County took the ball and went with it," Casanova added.

In other business during the regular Port and Harbor meeting 7:30 p.m. Thursday, the board:

—Approved the minutes from March 13, April 10, 17 and 24;

—Approved the operating, railroad operating, port and harbor construction, industrial park revenue and terminal dockets;

—Approved a $104 replenishment of petty cash;

—Authorized transfer of $79,607 from industrial park revenue fund to port and harbor construction fund to reimburse cost of a land purchased from International Paper Co.;

—Authorized a $18,053 increase of a 90-day money market certificate account with People's Federal Savings and Loan Co.;

—Discussed the county's susceptibility to lawsuits as a result of a recent court decision. Several commissioners cited a need for liability insurance for port and harbor property;

—Discussed a recommendation by Hancock Insurance Agency to increase a general insurance policy for $100,000 more coverage;

—Discussed a report by Advanced Developments, Inc. of Bay St. Louis specifying the work needed on the Port Blenville water tank. Webre said the exterior of the tank has extensive rusting and will have to be completely repainted. Webre also said the inside of the tank would need cleaning and spot painting;

—Heard a report by Commission Attorney Robert Genin that paperwork for the Hancock Bank land sale was completed. The Firetower Road property will be used for Stennis International Airport's navigational directional beacon; —Heard a report by Frankiewicz that paperwork is still being processed for Economic Development Administration funds for road and water system improvements at Stennis Airport. Webre said EDA will provide $160,000, the state will provide $35,000 and with the county providing $35,000- $38,000;

—Recessed until 7:30 p.m. Thursday May 15.

FmHA borrowers eligible for special compensation

Some borrowers who received loans from the Farm Home Administration to buy new homes during 1976-77 have been eligible to apply for compensation for structural defects which may have occurred in their homes.

A provision of the Housing Community Development Act of 1979 authorizes those who received housing loans between April 12, 1976 and October 12, 1977, to make claims for construction defects until October 12, 1980, said Mark Hazard, state director.

Since October 12, 1977, Farmers Home Administration, the rural development service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has offered a program of compensation for construction defects to borrowers who purchase new homes.

Borrowers can file claims for 18 months after they purchase homes.

If defects are noted in an FmHA financed home, the borrower first should contact the builder of the house who issued the builder's warranty to try to resolve the problem.

If problems cannot be resolved with builders and the defect "directly and significantly reduces the useful life or habitability of the dwelling," borrowers should contact the nearest FmHA county office.

"Compensation can be made for defects which affect the basic components of a dwelling, such as its foundation, basement, walls, floors framing or roof, or the heating system, water supply, or sewage disposal system," Hazard said.

Farmers Home Administration has advised its field offices to notify by letter all borrowers who may be eligible to file compensation claims during the extended period. The letters will inform borrowers how and when they may apply and explain the types of defects covered.

During the 18-month period affected by the extension, FmHA financed about 8,000 homes in rural Mississippi. Approximately 5,000 of them were newly built for FmHA borrowers and could be eligible under the program.

The remaining homes were purchased from the existing stock and do not qualify for the program.

"Up to $5 million is available nationwide for compensation for structural defects during fiscal year 1980," Hazard said.

"However, the number of complaints is small. As of March 12, only $220,604 had been expended for 121 claims."

He added that in fiscal year 1979, $1 million was allocated for the national program, but $383,188 was paid for 229 claims.

The Home Ownership Program of Farmers Home

Administration is conducted through 82 county offices serving every rural county in Mississippi.

The agency's housing program - including home ownership, rental housing, farm labor housing and site development - is budgeted at approximately $125,000,000 for Mississippi during fiscal year 1980.

County Agent's Notes

by John Smith

SEASONAL CALVING BEST

"I'll take a calf any time I can get one," say many cattle producers. This sounds good, but in reality it is not a sound philosophy to us in a calving program. Most cattlemen on a year-round calving program use this cliché to justify poor management.

A seasonal calving program is a better alternative for increased efficiency and profit. Controlled, seasonal calving offers these advantages:

- It permits better care for cows at calving time. Cows calving within a short period can be watched more closely. This will reduce birth losses.

- A large percentage of calves that die at birth could be saved if help were available;

- It makes overall herd health management easier. Vaccinating, dehorning, castrating and worming are easier when calves are near the same age;

- It improves brood cow nutrition. A cow with a calf needs more nutrition than a dry cow. If cows are in all stages of production, you will overfeed some and underfeed others; and

- It makes performance testing more accurate. To make meaningful comparisons of performance records, there should be no more than 120 days' spread in age of calves.

Changing a year-round program to a controlled calving season takes good management. It cannot be done overnight. It will take three years to make the transition. But I think you will find the rewards well worth the time and effort.

For more details on a controlled calving season, call or visit the County Extension office.

MANAGE SPRING PASTURES

Bahigraass and bermudagrass pastures overseeded with ryegrass must be managed properly to make maximum use of ryegrass and not reduce early summer production of the permanent grass.

As these pastures produce more forage than cattle can eat, add more cattle. Keep overseeded areas closely grazed to allow growth of bahia grass and bermuda grass along with ryegrass.

By concentrating cattle on over-seeded areas, some grazing planted on a prepared seedbed can be saved for hay.

With the high cost of producing winter grazing, forage produced must be used as stored feed. Ryegrass harvested for hay no later than the dough state of the oldest seedheads makes excellent quality hay.

Quality for hay drops rapidly as ryegrass matures, however. While cattle are grazing overseeded areas, summer pastures can get started and be well established by early May when ryegrass usually fades out. Cattle can then be rotated to allow regrowth of overseeded pastures. Harvest surplus bahiagrass or bermudagrass for hay, since the first spring growth is the highest quality forage.

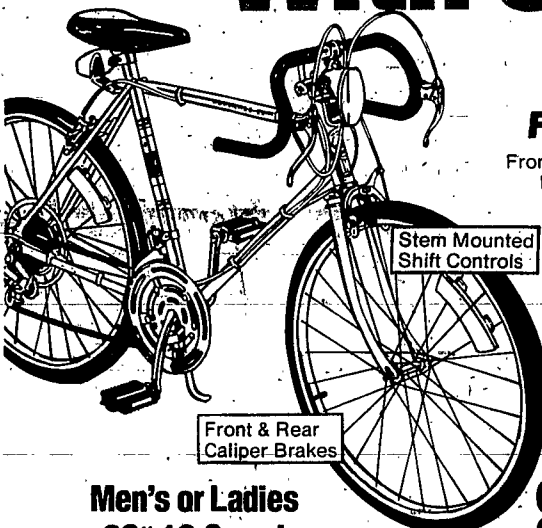

If overseeded pastures must be harvested for hay, cut this ryegrass as early as possible to reduce competition to the permanent grass. The quantity of early-cut ryegrass may be reduced, but improved quality will more than make up the difference.

TIMBER MANAGEMENT

Bits 'n pieces

Congratulations are in order for Lisa Smith on her selection as Miss Hospitality for Bay St. Louis.

We wish Ms. Smith a happy reign.

There are a lot of folks involved in an undertaking such as a hospitality contest and should all be commended.

We know Mayor and Mrs. Larry Bennett did a big share of the work.

In every contest there can be only one winner, so we wish to extend our congratulation to all of the contestants and a special thanks to their sponsors.

Just whom the title of Miss USA will be given tonight is anyone's guess, even though we have our favorites picked out.

One thing the Miss USA pageant on the coast has done for us, is the fact that we have never had so many volunteers on our staff seeking assignments.

Sure wish we could get volunteers for other events so easily.

The Wave Pool at Buccaneer State Park is now officially open with all the ribbon cutting past history.

We hope the pool will be enjoyed by many this summer and through the coming years.

As many of you know, there are many folks who should be commended on such a tremendous facility being located in our area.

Our good friend Perry Gibson had very much to do in this regards when he was on the Mississippi State Park Commission.

We would like to thank him and all the political leaders who worked so hard for the best swimming pool in Mississippi.

We are also very proud of the architectural firm, structural engineers and mechanical engineers, of whom all are local, who played an important part in the construction of the Wave Pool.

Fred Wagner Architect did the architectural design and we are very proud of the firm's part in the special swimming pool.

Wagner and his associate Jules Lagarde are special friends of ours since they were involved in our plant last year.

Pitcarin Mechanical Engineers who also were involved in our construction are very good friends. We are proud that Bill Pitcarin and Jim Evans did the mechanical engineering.

Neil Jeffrey being a resident of Waveland and his associate John Bolián a resident of the county really puts a local flavor on the whole facility.

We know there were many local laborers, carpenters, haulers and many others involved in the Wave Pool.

We know from experience that Greg Smith, park manager, will do a fine job and are sure he has a fine staff to run the facility.

Enjoy the swimming at Buccaneer State Park.

Heard some fellow Rotarians trying to figure out just what type of tires they could fit on a bicycle for the upcoming bike-athon.

Seems these guys are a little on the heavy side, someone told me they even tilt the scales, and they are worried about blowouts.

Of course I hold them that I would be there with my camera to snap any exciting photos of the May 31st event.

I even heard one Rotarian comment on the fact that we had better have Mobile Medic follow the group to Buccaneer.

There will be a big celebration of American Legion Day at Waveland's Post 77.

We will be giving you more details on the May 24 highlights in the coming issues.

Everyone has a late garden this year and we hope they are all successful.

A problem that still seems to effect several residents of the county is the fact that livestock get out of their enclosures and destroy some of the gardens.

As we all know, there is a law prohibiting cattle of all types from roaming, and the owners can be fined for violations.

We had a story recently from the coroner warning people to keep their cattle up, but reports indicate some owners are not taking heed of the laws.

We hope everyone will observe the laws and keep their cattle in their own pastures.

We do not know if a record of crayfish were devoured at the annual Bergeron Industries affair last Friday, but have a feeling it was at least close to a record.

Bill Bergeron president of Bergeron Industries, Inc. should be congratulated on his relationship with the employees of his fine facility at Port Bienville in Pearlington.

As many of you know, the firm which is in its third year has over 160 employees and many, many are from Hancock County.

It makes us feel very good to see so many local folks very happy with their employment.

MISSISSIPPI ECONOMIC COUNCIL --
THE STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

SEND A LETTER UP YONDER

American taxpayers may be more observant than our elected officials in Washington believe.

A recent national poll conducted by the Gallup organization for the U. S. C. chamber of Commerce reveals that consumers - by almost two to one - believe that lowering federal spending and budget deficits would be more effective in reducing inflation than resorting to other means such as wage-price controls.

Survey results show that the public recognizes that government - and no other forces - is the prime source of inflation. The public also recognizes that government wage and price controls - which have been tried and failed in the past - are not the answer to curing the economic ills of the United States.

The majority of the public also feels that balancing the federal budget would help curb inflation while at the same time the majority rejects the idea of higher taxes as a cure.

But recognizing the problem is one thing. Members of the public now need to let their observations be known by writing to their elected officials in Washington.

The Mississippi Economic Council recognizes the need for more citizen participation in government and urges citizens to let their voices be heard.

The MEC recommends that the President be required to submit budgets to Congress in which proposed expenditures shall not exceed the estimate of revenue which would be generated and secure better cost estimates especially on long-range projects. The Council believes there should be an annual independent reexamination by Congress of all permanent spending authorizations and appropriations carried over from previous years.

We sent our people to Washington to speak for us in Congress. Now we must

From the American Medical Association

Some 3,400 Hancock Countians are thought to have hypertension, an unhealthy high pressure exerted by the blood within the arteries, according to the Mississippi State Board of Health. Another 2,500 are borderline hypertensive.

During May, National High Blood Pressure Month, the state public health agency is conducting an intensive effort to find people with high blood pressure and help get this major contributor to heart disease and stroke under control.

The effort started within the agency. Dr. Charles A. Cook, medical director of the Statewide Hypertension Control Project, said every State Board of Health employee was invited to take part in a massive screening project at the central office in Jackson and in the nine district and 81 county offices.

Besides helping hypertensives discover their disease, the project will provide "solid facts" on the presence of high blood pressure among agency employees.

"Many people don't even know they have high blood pressure," Dr. Cook said. "Some people think they can tell when their blood pressure is up; they think the condition produces such clearcut symptoms as dizziness and headaches. Because of this mistaken belief, patients sometimes neglect their doctors' instructions to take their medicine every day; instead, they take their medicine as if it were aspirin, for the relief of symptoms."

"The fact is, the only way for somebody to know if his blood pressure is up is to have it measured by one especially trained to do so," Dr. Cook emphasized.

"High blood pressure is painless," the physician added. "It has no 'high blood pressure' is painless," the physician added. "It has no symptoms when it begins doing damage. The only way to treat high blood pressure is to follow treatment every day."

Most hypertension patients must take

Senator Thad Cochran

SPECIAL REPORT:

Senior Citizens

Senator Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) this week denounced the Administration's proposal to impose a 15 percent withholding tax on individual interest and dividend payments.

Cochran has joined with other Senate colleagues in introducing a resolution stating that the Administration's proposal is detrimental to the economic well-being of the United States.

"At a time when national economic policy should encourage individual saving and investment, enacting a withholding tax on interest and dividends would be contrary to that goal," maintained the Mississippi Senator. "This is not the time to be taking money out of people's savings accounts and dividend checks."

Cochran pointed out that less than a daily medication throughout life. Additionally, the doctor may recommend such other changes as cutting down on salt, losing weight, quitting cigarette smoking, and getting more exercise to help the medicine work more effectively.

High blood pressure can affect any one of any age or any race. But health professionals have identified certain groups of people as more likely than others to have hypertension: the elderly, poor, medically underserved, and blacks.

The problem is particularly acute in Mississippi, which has the lowest per capita income in the nation and a large black population. Almost 30 percent of the state's black population and 20 percent of the white population do not have a physician whom they see regularly; the state has the lowest physician to population and nurse to population ratios of any state in the nation.

In Mississippi, more than 450,000 people (35 percent of the population over 10 years of age) are thought to have high blood pressure. The state's rate of hypertensive heart disease is twice the national rate.

While efforts during May are focused on finding and treating people with high blood pressure, the State Board of Health effort year round is aimed at controlling hypertension.

Controlling what is probably the most important public health problem in the United States involves the patient, his family, and his physician, nurse, pharmacist, and other health professionals. It requires remembering every day that high blood pressure can be controlled, but it must be treated for life.

Hancock County residents may learn whether they have high blood pressure through the free screening program at the Hancock County Health Department. Telephone 467-4510 for more information.

month ago the President signed into law legislation allowing a $200 to $400 exclusion from tax for interest and dividends.

A major reason for rejecting this proposal, noted Cochran, is that withholding would be a hardship to the elderly and others who have little income other than from their savings and minor investments.

Also where interest is compounded or where dividends are automatically reinvested, withholding would actually decrease the real return on savings and investments.

"Since withholding for 74 percent of taxpayers exceeds their tax liability," said Cochran, "the President's proposal amounts to little more than an interest-free loan to the Treasury."

CUBAN REFUGEES CAUSING CONCERN By CONGRESSMAN TRENT LOTT 5th District, Mississippi

A massive influx of an estimated 20,000 Cuban refugees into the United States is causing a great deal of concern among people in South Mississippi.

While on the Mississippi Coast recently, I received a number of complaints on the sudden immigration of these refugees and their possible impact on the American economy. President Carter already has declared parts of Florida a disaster area and, even in these times of tight budgets, is reported to be considering asking Congress for another $100 million to help resettle Cuban refugees.

The concern I encountered comes mainly from Coast residents still trying to recover from two natural disasters in the last eight months and entry of Vietnamese refugees into the area. People are worried about the impact of the Cubans on a country with an 18 percent inflation rate and a 7.2 percent unemployment rate.

But beyond the potential economic problems, they are worried about whether the criminal element in the refugees' numbers is being properly screened. At least 20 Cuban refugees have been identified as probable spies, but American laws will not allow their arrest until they are caught in the act of spying.

Disaster-stricken residents are having trouble justifying the Federal Emergency Management Agency's (FEMA) support of the refugees when it can't find the money to pay some $2 million due in Jackson County alone for legitimate recovery aid after Hurricane Frederic.

These complaints are proper and, in this instance, some orderly means of processing must be found. Unfortunately, the sheer number make it almost impossible.

Before this latest round of defections from Castro's communist government, the U. S. was allowing approximately 30,000 Cuban refugees into our country each year. Now, in just the past two weeks, an estimated 20,000 have reached the Florida mainland.

I think Congressional action must be considered to change immigration laws which give the President too much latitude in opening America's doors. As one Member of Congress said, all of our nobleness and good intentions will not help solve the problem.

There must be proper limits on the numbers of refugees allowed to enter the United States, especially in period of high inflation, unemployment and recession. The sudden, unexpected strain on the resources of American citizens is tremendous and many questions remain to be answered, including whether the Cuban refugees can be absorbed into the American work force.

While the American tradition is one of compassion and understanding, this truly is an international problem. I hope President Carter will soon secure commitments from Central and South American countries, as well as others, to shoulder their share of the load.

MSU orientation slated in June

A short course on Mississippi State University, the "1980 New Student and Parent Orientation," is designed to familiarize freshmen and transfer students with the requirements, guidelines, services and facilities of the university. Orientation is also a time to make new friends.

The program includes six on-campus sessions scheduled throughout the month of June. Parents are also invited to attend orientation, during which they and the students will have opportunities to meet members of the faculty and administration, and see the campus.

But there are other reasons to attend orientation, according to Thomas F. Scarbrough, director of MSU College and School Relations. "Orientation provides students with the opportunity to preregister for fall classes with more personal attention and priority in scheduling classes," he said.

Speaking of personal attention, 19 MSU students will act as orientation leaders, in addition to other university personnel involved in the program.

And for the working student,

"Two weekend sessions have been incorporated into orientation this year—one for freshmen and one for transfer students," Scarbrough said.

Choice of a major determines which session should be attended. The following dates in June have been scheduled for freshmen to attend orientation:

June 5-6—any major, undecided major;
June 8-10—accountancy, agriculture, and home economics, architecture, business and industry, and education majors;

June 18-20—arts and sciences, computing affairs, engineering, and forest resources majors; and June 28-29—any major, undecided majors.

Transfer students with any major are invited to attend sessions on June 21-22 and 26-27.

Students who participate in orientation are not obligated to apply for admission to the Funeral planning may save expenses

The cost of a traditional American funeral now averages $2,000.

"This is the third single largest expense a family will have," says Bonita Bridges, area consumer management specialist, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "It's right behind a house and a car. Because decisions about funerals are made at the highest level of emotionalism, poor decision-making is probable."

Because about 75 percent of American families choose traditional funerals, and costs are expected to increase at an average annual rate of 8.5 percent, families may need to consider ways to cut these costs, she adds.

A coffin is usually the largest single expense, and its choice can influence the total cost of the funeral. Ask to see prices on various models, she suggests.

A memorial service, which is conducted without the presence of the body, is less expensive. Because the coffin is not present, you may choose a less expensive model.

Because our society is becoming more mobile, few of us will have access to the "free" family cemetery. When choosing a cemetery-a plot, it's wise to check prices, look at the plot itself, learn if a vault is required, what kind of markers are used and the length of management.

Mrs. Bridges tells of an older person who signed a contract (in his home on the salesman's first visit) to buy a cemetery plot with "perpetual care." The plot turned out to be in an undeveloped cemetery. The few existing graves proved the limit of "perpetual care," she adds.

Ask if the management has membership in the American Cemetery Association, the National Cemetery Association or the Mississippi Cemetery Association, she advises consumers.

Only two to three percent of all survivors pay the total bill at the time the funeral is arranged. It usually takes about 45 days for a funeral home to settle an account.

Mrs. Bridges tells, too, of a couple is still making monthly payments for expenses of a parent's funeral. They are finding it increasingly difficult because inflation is causing a rise in necessary day-to-day living expenses.

"It's difficult to think about funerals," she admits. "But it's foolish to leave a family in debt because of funeral expenses. If you have an insurance policy, check to see what funeral costs will be covered. You may wish to leave written instructions for your funeral and include in your letter of instruction a limit to be spent on the funeral."

ASCS Report

CCC INTEREST RATES ANNOUNCED
Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland announced the interest rate on all 1980 crop loans made by the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) will be 13 percent.

Bergland also announced the 13-percent rate would apply to any new 1979-crop loans and new farm storage facility loans made after today.

Bergland said the new rates are based on the cost of borrowing money from the U. S. Treasury. Continuing interest rates at the earlier level, he said, would result in losses to CCC.

Farmers who already have CCC commodity or facility loans would not be affected by the new interest rate, Bergland said.

Interest rate for 1979-crop commodity loans had been 9 percent until today. The interest rate for farm storage facility loans had been 10.5 percent since March 22, 1979.

Farmers can assure that they comply with provisions of the 1980 programs by taking advantage of premeasurement and/or early measurement services offered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Pearl River-Hancock County ASCA Office, said farmers can obtain these services by contacting the county-ASCS office.

"We will measure, reference and mark out fields with stakes prior to planting. To be certain of full compliance, farmers must plant within the stakes prior to planting. To be certain of full compliance, farmers must plant within the stakes that are placed when the land is measured," Gennin said.

This is a premeasurement service which is available prior to planting.

Producers who take advantage of premeasurement are then guaranteed that the fields are a certain size. This is important in helping them plan which field to plant to certain crops, Gennin said.

Early measurement service is available for the measurement of crops which have already been planted. Since staking and referencing is not required for this type service, the cost to producers is considerable less. Costs of the premeasurement service and the early measurement service are based on the estimated cost of performing these services. These charges will be furnished by the county ASCS office to interested producers upon request.

After planting, program participants must certify or report their 1980 crops and other program acres to the county ASCS office in order to be eligible for program benefits.

NSL DERAILMENT—This Southern Railway engine and a second one behind it sit at an angle after derailing Tuesday morning at a switch of the National Space Technology Laboratories branch spur. Ed Martin, spokesman for Southern Railway in Washington, D.C., said the cause of the derailment is unknown. "The two engines derailed in an upright position at a switch on the NASA branch line. There were no injuries, but some track was damaged during the mishap," Martin said Wednesday. NSL Public Affairs Officer Mack Herring said the derailment halted traffic on the main road of the space facility, but was cleared an hour later. Crews were working Wednesday to place the engine on the tracks and repair the spurs damaged during the derailment. (Staff photo-Rich Adams)

Teenage pregnancy a growing world-wide economic problem

MONEY TALK
By NOREEN BARNES
Teenage pregnancy is a serious and growing social, economic, and health problem in most countries of the world.

The United States ranks fourth after East Germany, New Zealand and Romania in the number of teenage women who become pregnant each year.

Current statistics indicate that one woman in ten will be a mother before her 18th birthday. One-sixth of all pregnant women under eighteen are giving birth to their second or third child.

United States census figures suggest that mothers in the ten to fourteen age group are the only group of women for whom the birth rate is rising.

Although the birth rate for the nation has steadily declined, the birth rate among teenage women has increased.

Because of poor diet and little or no prenatal care, teens are more likely to give birth to babies under 4½ pounds. These low-weight babies are often born with serious birth defects, and die before their first birthday.

Not only are infants of teenage mothers at high risk of death, the mothers also face the risk of death from complications such as toxemia or anemia.

If a young woman has her first child when she is fifteen, it is likely she have her second and third child by the time she is eighteen.

The health of these second and third babies suffers more than the first, because of the rapid sequence in which they are conceived.

The mother's health also suffers from such rapid childbearing. Medical cost is a very expensive item in family budgets.

Studies indicate that two-thirds of all adolescent pregnancies are unintended. In spite of this, about ninety-four percent of teenage mothers keep their babies at home with them.

Many of the young couples marry before or after the birth of their baby. These young couples, because they lack maturity, are not equipped to meet the responsibilities that marriage and child rearing puts upon them.

They must cope not only with the responsibility of a new baby, but manage a household on little or no money, in addition to trying to manage the interpersonal relationships that all married couples must face.

Studies indicate that most of these marriages end in divorce.

Brides seventeen and younger are three times more likely, and husbands twice as likely, to split up with their spouses than those who marry in their early twenties.

More than one-quarter of first marriages in which the bride is 14-17 end in divorce or separation, compared to ten percent in which the bride is 20-24. These young parents almost always have their education interrupted.

A New York City study shows that eighty-five percent of those who first became mothers between fifteen and seventeen did not complete high school.

Seventy-nine percent of them had no job experience when they gave birth. National averages indicate that eight out of ten women who become pregnant before seventeen never finish high school.

It follows, therefore, that pregnancy is one of the most common causes for teenage women dropping out of school.

Teenage pregnancies cause many economic problems.

VA health care benefits raised

The "Veteran Health Programs Extension and Improvement Act of 1979" authorized, effective January 1, 1980, medical services for any medical disability of a WW I or a Mexican Border Period Veteran.

For the WW I veteran, honorable service must have been within the period of April 6, 1917-November 11, 1918, and the Mexican Border Period Veteran must have served 90 days or more between May 9, 1916-April 5, 1917. Dental care is excluded from the provision of this law, according to Hancock County Veterans Service officer Mike Ladner.

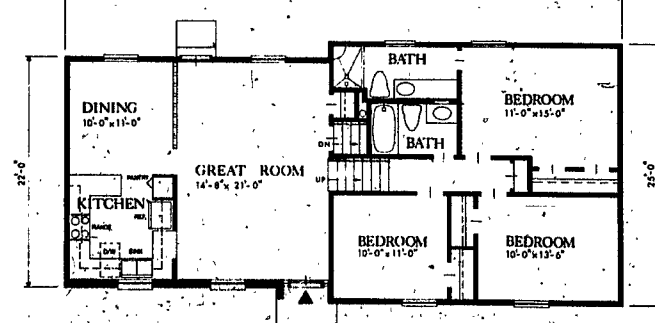

This law also provides authority for furnishing non-VA hospital care in a public or private hospital for any non-service-connected condition if in the opinion of a VA physician an emergency exists while the veteran is receiving medical services in a VA facility and that facility is unable to provide the necessary care.

It is expected that there will be limited use of this authority and a patient must be moved from the non-VA facility to an appropriate VA medical facility as soon as the patient's condition will permit, Ladner said.

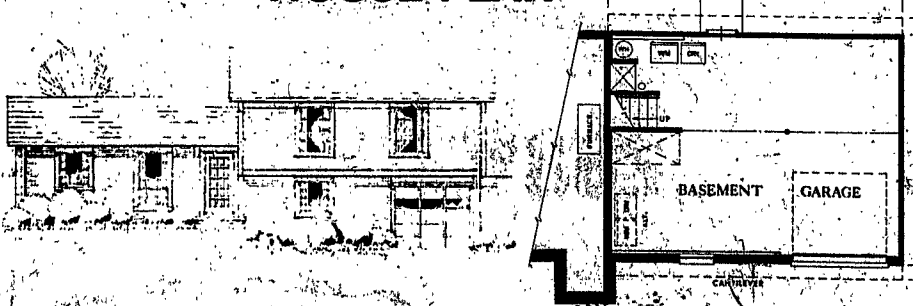

Another provision of the law authorized the VA to furnish home health services to these WW I and Mexican Border Period Veterans. These services include only such improvements and structural alterations the cost of which does not exceed $600.00 for a non-service-connected disability as are necessary to assure the continuation of treatment or provide access to the home or to essential lavatory and sanitary facilities, he added.

Plan No. SL 247

This attractive home — a conventional split level — has many features generally associated with more expensive homes. The mid-level gives access to an authentic great room extending from the front to the rear of the home. The kitchen, with all built-in appliances, and the dining room are conveniently situated off the great room. Three nice bedrooms, with large closets, are located on the upper level. The two baths are designed back-to-back for saving on building costs. The bath connecting to the master bedroom has an extra long vanity. On the lower level, the plan calls for a single garage and an abundance of space in the basement, where the washer, dryer, water heater and furnace are located. The home, design number SL 247, has 1,257 square feet on the upper level and 635 square feet in the garage and basement. The exterior is wood, with a front of face brick. Complete blueprints are available from E. A. Myers, residential designer, 1400 Scott Boulevard, Decatur, Georgia 30030. This plan appears in the sixth edition of the company's plan book.

Carmichael ran against James Eastland in 1972. I then joined the Hancock County Executive Committee in 1976," the committeewoman reported.

Mrs. McPhail, 49, the former Evelyn Williams, is a native of Columbus, Miss. where she attended local schools and was president of her senior high school class.

She attended Mississippi State College for Women three years then married John McPhail of St. Petersburg, Fla.

With the beginning of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Hancock County rocket testing program, the McPhails' move from Birmingham, Ala. to Waveland in 1963.

John McPhail worked at the then Mississippi Test Facility until 1967 when he was transferred to Cape Kennedy.

The McPhails' returned to Waveland in 1969 and John McPhail again worked at MTF.

Up until that time Mrs. McPhail had worked as a housewife and mother of their three children, but with her children now grown she then had an opportunity to pursue her own career.

She was employed by the Governor's Emergency Council for a year then was employed by the Diamondhead Corp. as the project manager's administrative assistant.

Mrs. McPhail is now community services director for Diamondhead.

She is a part-time business administration student at the University of Southern Mississippi, serving her second term as secretary of the County Executive Committee and first vice-president of the Mississippi Federation of Republican Women.

The McPhails' moved to Diamondhead this year and are members of the First Presbyterian Church in Bay St. Louis.

In addition to their three children the McPhails' also have three grandchildren.

Ada Reed, a Gulfport Memorial spokesman, said late Wednesday afternoon, "Jones is in stable condition with second degree burns on both legs and one arm."

Capt. Mike Willumits of the Bay St. Louis Fire Department said, "There was a small fire in the body shop and it was extinguished quickly by Firemen Auther Farve."

"Favre was off-duty and was riding by the body shop when he spotted the fire. He stopped and extinguished the fire even before our unit got there," Willumits reported.

"We still are not sure of the origin of the fire which is under investigation by our department," Willumits added.

"The fire burned about a 10-foot-square area of the wall and floor in a portion of the body shop," the fire captain said.

telephone bills for out-of-state telephone calls.

While examining the docket, Cuevas took all telephone bills and circled long distance calls, which included calls to North Carolina, Ohio, Louisiana, and Georgia.

"I suggest we investigate these calls, and if they were personal calls, have the person who placed them make retribution to the school district. If the calls were school business, fine," Cuevas said.

Cuevas questioned four bills totaling $657.

Cuevas moved to pay the docket, which was seconded by Johnny Banks, and approved.

Board President Woodrow Ladner also attended the meeting.

The Hancock Executive Committee and the Republican Women's Club honored Mrs. McPhail with a reception in Jackson Friday evening.

Hancock County residents assisting in the reception were Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Life, Mrs. Inez Gustafson, and Mrs. Pere Cabiball of Waveland; Mrs. Elva Buran of Lakeshore; Dr. Joseph Nodurt, Mrs. Eric Phillipott, and Mrs. Virginia Giulbeau all of Diamondhead; Mrs. Lillian Wise and Paul Montjoy of Bay St. Louis; Hildon Shaw of the Crane Creek Community; and James Rester of the Leetown Community.

Mrs. McPhail reported, "It was a beautiful party."

At the Republican State Convention in Jackson Saturday, Mike Retzer was re-elected state chairman and Clarke Reed was re-elected national committeeman. Both are from Greenville.

Hayley Barbour of Yazoo City was elected state vice-chairman and Mary Germany of Meridian was elected vice-chairman for women's affairs.

Also chosen Saturday were five delegates-at-large and five alternates-at-large.

Delegates chosen are Senator Thad Cochran, U.S. Representatives Trent Loft and Jon Hinson; Retzer; and former chairman Charles Pickering.

Alternates elected are Mrs. McPhail, Sam Coley, Brenda Donnell, Nehemiah Flowers and Julius Ridgeway.

calendar and change the recommendation of the principals who proposed school start in September," Wilkinson said.

Proponents of the September opening date had argued classrooms would be cooler then than in August.

Insert pay reasons

The union leader said he sent letters and a copy of the survey to board members in an attempt to gain a slot on last month's agenda, but "slow mail delivery and not opening letters" delayed the action.

Wilkinson then requested the letter to Board President Virginia Gex and his survey results be entered into official board minutes.

Deen echped Wilkinson's praise for McCullough, and added the proposed calendar will allow "older students an early start on the summer job market."

After the union leaders had completed their addresses to the board, Board Member James Ginn said, "We can't go wrong with this decision, can we?"

Board Member Betty Diboll moved to adopt the proposed school calendar. Her motion was seconded by Ginn and adopted unanimously.

With adoption of the new calendar, registration will be conducted August 11-15 and classes will begin on August 19.

School will let out on September 1 for Labor Day, November 27-28 for Thanksgiving, and the first semester will end in December before the December 19 Christmas vacation begins. Students will resume classes January 5, 1981.

Graduation will take place May 21, and classes will let out for the summer May 21.

Board Member Walter Turcotte Jr. requested the board either let students out for a day or transport them to the Hancock County Livestock Fair as a holiday.

Turcotte said the Hancock County School District buses students to the fair, and asked if the city school district could do the same.

McCullough said he and school administrators had discussed the matter in depth and suggested students attend school Fair Day with those students desiring to go to the fair could be bussed along with teacher chaperones.

The superintendent suggested the board postpone making a decision until he meets with Hancock County Agent John Smith.

In other business Monday, the board approved paying Turan-Lane Chevrolet $65 each month for use of driver education cars.

Last month the board tabled the issue and instructed McCullough to ask other car dealerships if they would participate in the program.

Turan-Lane had supplied the automobiles free of charge in the past. The superintendent said neither Charlie Henderson Ford or Schuffert Pontiac desired to participate in the program.

The board unanimously voted in favor of paying Turan-Lane for use of the vehicles.

Also at Monday's meeting, Sue Sonier, a teacher at Waveland Elementary, reported on a reading program called "Right To Read"

Sonier and another teacher attended a leadership seminar in January and February at Mississippi State University in connection with the Right To Read Program.

She reported the program is succeeding at Waveland Elementary, adding no local financial assistance is needed at the present.

She said eventually the program will be added to the other schools in the system.

Ginn asked Sonier if a reading problem exists in district schools, to which she replied, "Yes, this is a national problem. We are not alone."

Nell Woodall, another teacher, told the board a Ginn Weekly Reader program involving pre- and post-testing is successful, adding 23 of her 27 fifth graders attained reading skills above the national average.

In other business, Transportation Supervisor Donald Caldwell requested the board amend a policy and allow and move by river to Cedar Point Saturday night (September 6) and conduct maneuvers in the Bay St. Louis area," Cook reported.

"We will have somebody planted in the Bay St. Louis area and they will have to be snatched out of town during the maneuver," Cook said.

Commissioner Victor Frankiewicz Jr. asked Cook, "Are you taking nominations for someone to haul away?"

Cook replied, "No, we've already got somebody we've picked."

"All of my men are Airborne trained, experienced jumpers and are scuba qualified," Cook reported.

Commissioner Dave McDonald asked, "Stennis Airport can be used every year with prior approval?"

Commission Director W. Willson Webre said, "We need to get approval by the Board of Supervisors first."

The Special Forces commander said, "Time is of the essence, we need a permit as soon as possible."

McDonald inquired, "Would the board need to ratify our action in this case?"

Commission Fred Curet replied, "You can't get out of approval by the board. We can't make it official tonight."

Commission Attorney Gerald Gex stated, "The county has to ratify this because the legal title to the airport is in the county's name. We have to make a recommendation to the county."

"How much advance notice will we have before your group uses the airport," Gex asked Cook?

Cook replied, "Ninety days."

Gex said, "We have to authorize someone to execute a permit."

Curet asked Cook, "Do you have an attack force of some kind?"

Cook explained, "We are part of the Mississippi National Guard consisting of two Special Forces detachments of about 24 people each and I am a major in command of the unit."

HNC given minimum state accreditation

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County Superintendent of Education Billy D. Sills Monday received a letter from the State Commission on School Accreditation awarding Minimum Class accreditation to Hancock North Central School.

HNC applied for Class AA accreditation, but was awarded minimum accreditation and placed in a probationary period until five deficiencies are corrected.

Annually Mississippi school principals apply for either Class AA, Class A or Minimum Class accreditation based on criteria established by the state commission.

Applications are followed up by an unannounced accreditation committee inspection.

The deficiencies cited in the letter received by Sills states, "The school plant does not meet standard requirements; the school site does not meet standard requirements; adequate facilities for physical education and recreation are not provided; buildings and grounds are not designed to meet standard requirements; and one teacher is not properly certified."

This report was a result of an April 19 inspection by a three-member state accreditation committee consisting of Committee Chairman N.F. Smith of Durant, Dr. John McPhail of the University of Southern Mississippi and Don Brown of Ocean Springs.

Sills said, "The committee came here on April 19 to see what progress had been made toward accreditation since October 1979 when each principal filed an annual accreditation report."

Explaining the first two of five deficiencies cited in the report Sills said, "They found at the elementary school there was no teacher's workroom, an inadequate teacher's lounge and principal's office."

"These will be corrected with the completion of the combined handicapped center and administrative facility which the architect says will be in October," Sills stated.

"When the school was renovated in 1977 and a new cafeteria was built, the old cafeteria was converted into three classrooms which were not large enough. The state requires 600 square feet so when the new building is built we can place the smaller special education classes in these rooms," the superintendent added.

Regarding inadequate physical education facilities, Sills reported, "The foundation is poured for a 9,340 square-foot physical education and recreation facility. This area will be finished by September."

In regard to buildings and grounds not meeting requirements Sills said, "A National Guard unit from Picaune is now landscaping the school grounds for better drainage. It will take them all summer to complete the work because they only meet one weekend a month, but they are doing this work free."

"We are also installing eight more water fountains and building eight covered water fountain areas," Sills added.

Regarding the one teacher not certified, Sills reported the teacher has been released.

Sills stated, "Those of us who are genuinely concerned about education in Hancock County know that we are beset by a multitude of problems, the foremost being accreditation."

"As superintendent, my main job is to give the students and parents the best possible education and schools that they deserve," Sills said.

"The parents can rest assured that during my administration that there will be no foot dragging or deception," the superintendent stated.

"Hancock County students shall have accredited schools to attend and we are working day and night to make our school district one of the best school systems in the state, and with the peoples' help we'll do it," Sills said.

Peterson, Investigators Alvin Ladner and Delbert Seay in addition to other sheriff's department personnel answered the call. The Mississippi Highway Patrol is assisting and a composite of the suspect was made up by Waveland's Investigator Robert (Poochy) Tartavouille.

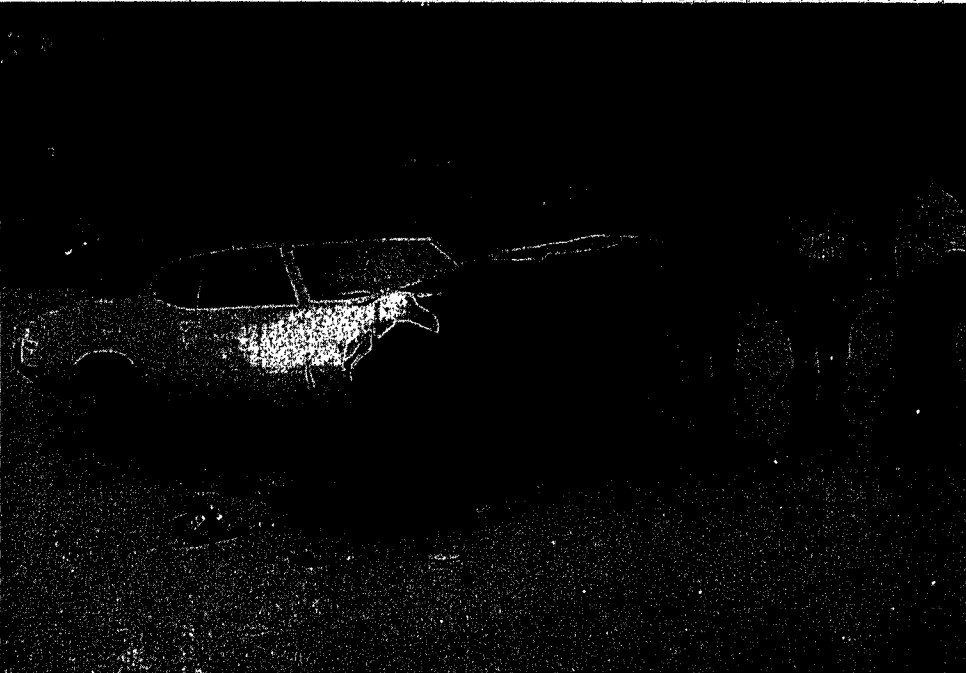

St. Tammany Parish Police were immediately notified of the robbery.

In other respects, Sheriff Peterson said a total of five arrests have been made in the past three days for possession of marijuana.

"It seems that marijuana use is on the pickup with the warm weather. Most of the arrests have been for small amounts but our office is going to enforce the laws," Peterson said late Wednesday.

DIAL 911

MOMENTS AFTER MISHAP Eunice M. Ladner, 515 Amelia St., Waveland, is aided by bystanders after she was involved in an automobile accident Tuesday on US-90 at Old Spanish Trail in Waveland. Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn reports Ladner was waiting for a break in traffic before crossing the highway, and attempted to cross the road after a large truck passed her. A car driven by Milton M. Simpson, Rt. 2 Box 223,

Bay St. Louis, was apparently following the truck unseen by Ladner, Chief Dorn said. Simpson told police he swerved in an attempt to avoid Ladner's car, but hit the front end resulting in damage to his and Ladner's car. No injuries occurred as a result of the mishap, Dorn reported, and Ladner was charged with causing an accident. (Staff photo-Rich Adams)

A thought for the day from the library of Father Canisius Hayes, pastor St. Ann's Parish.

Prayer is a conversation or dialogue with God, and the art of prayer is knowing how to speak to and listen to God. When we pray we must open ourselves as deeply and honestly as we can; and we must be initiated into the delicate art of listening, as God opens himself to us. Powell

High blood pressure; the silent tragedy

If you can control a tragedy prior to striking you or your family, would you? Ridiculous? Not really. High blood pressure is a national tragedy which affects an estimated 34 million Americans...thousands of whom don't know they have it.

Even worse, many known hypertensives fail to remain on treatment. High blood pressure can lead to stroke, heart attack and kidney failure. Untreated, the normal function of the heart is affected and arteries may be damaged, as well as other parts of the body.

All extremely serious matters, says the American Heart Association. Most diseases touch those afflicted by making them ill or giving them pain. High blood pressure usually has no symptoms. It can develop unseen for years.

For a number of years, a campaign to make the American people "aware" of high blood pressure has been underway. But all the facts in the world can't help unless Americans take action; first, by having their blood pressures checked by their physicians or in a community screening program; and second, following their doctor's advice if it's high.

The goal is for everyone to become involved in high blood pressure detection and control. If we can reach that goal, high blood pressure, a major risk factor for heart and blood vessel diseases, can be controlled, says the Heart Association.

Many American businesses and industries have entered the fight by checking the blood pressures of their employees on company premises. Some industries have even provided in-house follow-up care. These services benefit not only the employee, but save business millions of dollars in employee absenteeism due to the effects of uncontrolled high blood pressure: stroke, heart attack and heart and kidney failure.

Get involved! May is National High Blood Pressure Month. Take the opportunity to care and share in the fight to control this national tragedy. For further information about high blood pressure, call or write the American Heart Association—Mississippi Affiliate, P. O. Box 16053, Jackson, MS 39226 (601) 981-4721.

PRC expects 407 to graduate Sun.

Pearl River College will graduate the largest class in the school's history here Sunday at 6 p.m. in the PRC Coliseum.

Dr. Marvin R. White, PRC's president, announced that 407 students are candidates for graduation and will be receiving associate degrees and/or certificates of proficiency during the evening ceremony.

The Honorable G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery, representative of the third district, will address the graduates, their friends and family. "This will be the largest graduating class ever here at PRC," Dr. White said. The 1980 candidate listing is 23 more than last year's 384 total, the previous all time high.

Of the graduates 203 will receive associate degrees and 204 have earned certificates. Three Pearl River graduates will receive associate degrees and 204 have earned certificates.

Three Pearl River graduates will be recognized for completing two-years of college work in the academic field with all A's or a perfect 4.0 average.

Just last week graduates Mary Brooks and Angela Milner of Poplarville and Sylvia Kellar of Piquette were presented the Pearl River College Scholarship Award.

The awards are offered by Dr. White to the college student making the highest academic average at Pearl River.

School officially ended Wednesday afternoon with final exams for freshman and sophomores. The total number graduating may change slightly after PRC instructors record the final grades.

Pearl River's Associate Degree Nursing class will hold its formal pinning ceremony Friday 7 p.m. in the Moody Hall Auditorium.

The 1980 graduating list is up 175 students over the class of 1973 and is four times as large as the class of 1958. Past enrollment figures show 103 students graduated in 1956; 191 in 1967; 259 in 1972; 248 in 1973; 291 in 1974; 324 in 1975; 340 in 1978 and 384 last year.

All friends and relatives of the graduates are invited to attend the graduation exercises on Sunday in the Pearl River College Coliseum.

Pass Christian Watermelon Roast

By RICH ADAMS
Begin with an idea to meet new friends, add 100 pounds of boiled crawfish, ten slightly spiked watermelon, and three kegs of Dixie Beer on ice.

Mix in a beautiful Saturday on a sandy Pass Christian beach, 300 fun-loving people, and the result is the Third Annual Pass Christian Watermelon Roast.

The little-known annual event was conducted this year on May 3 and is the brainchild of four National Space Technology Laboratories employees.

They decided it was time to meet new people in an environment other than the scrubbed-clean atmosphere of NSTL, so Jim Hammack, Skip Derry, Bill John, and Greg Wirtz decided the best way to meet people was to throw a party.

"I guess you can say we got tired of doing things with only the people at NSTL, and decided the best way to meet other people was by throwing a party," Hammack said.

"It is an interesting way to meet new friends," Wirtz interjected. The party, financed collectively by the foursome without outside sponsorship, was not so successful in 1978 due to unusually cool and windy weather, nor was it very successful in 1979 when poor weather forced the event to be conducted in an individual's yard rather than the beach.

This year, however, sunny skies prevailed and party-loving people from all along the Gulf Coast joined the four NSTL employees in their first totally successful watermelon roast in its three-year history. A small amount of deceit could also be partially responsible for the overwhelming success of this year's event, as it was posted along US-90 from Pass Christian to the words "Miss USA" of a watermelon be-travel abroad, quite a bit, we are all at one time or another missing the United States," he explained.

A little slow getting started at first, by 3 p.m. the beach near Pass Christian's famous leaning palm tree off Holiday Drive was alive with partygoers who arrived by car and sailboat.

Among the activities, other than drinking beer and eating a covered dish buffet, a series of volleyball championships were played and many groups began throwing frisbees.

The party continued, until after midnight, complete with a large bonfire on the beach. An unexpected guest joined the revelry about 11 p.m. when, according to John, two persons floundering near the shore came upon a four-foot alligator on a sand bar.

"The alligator was just laying on the sand bar and the two flounders picked it up and tried to turn it over," John said.

"We were sitting around the fire waiting for it to die out. I had my dog on the beach, and he had been barking like crazy. I didn't know he was barking at an alligator," he continued.

"The Pass Christian Police Department came down to get the alligator for transport to the Wildlife Commission, but the officers were wary of putting the alligator in their patrol car," John explained.

"The two flounders finally controlled the reptile's tail and turned it over, rubbing its belly to calm it down," he continued.

"The officers agreed the alligator was calm enough and placed it in the rear of the patrol car, where the alligator proceeded to go crazy," John added.

State officials offer pine beetle advise

Although the Southern Pine Beetle epidemic continues to pose a serious threat to Mississippi's pine timber, newly appointed State Forester, R. C. "Dick" Allen, cautions landowners against total harvesting of their timberland to control the problem insects.

"Some landowners have completely cleared 80-100 acre tracts when the destructive beetles have been found on only a couple of acres," Allen said. "This sort of management decision is definitely unnecessary under the circumstances."

"It could conceivably even more destructive element in the state's overall forest economy than the insects," the State Forester warned.

Dr. R. J. Collins, head of the Forestry Commission's Insect-Disease Control Department recommends that instead of liquidating entire forest holdings, landowners should get the help of a forester in marking only infested trees and bug-free pines in a limited buffer zone (40-70' wide). Commission foresters can also help them in finding a market for their timber and in initiating forest management practices that will discourage a return of the destructive beetles, according to Collins.

Collins said the Forestry Commission is currently flying detection flights on a regular schedule to locate new infestations and chart slaying progress. The flights have thus far determined that the Southern Pine Beetle is now present at epidemic levels in at least 20

Bergeron Industries celebrate 'mud bug' festival

BERGERON PRESIDENT - Bill Bergeron, right, president of Bergeron Industries, Inc., enjoys crayfish and conversation with special guest James Ginn Friday. Bergeron said his facility at Port Blenville is the process of increasing work force to over 200 by the end of 1980. Currently over 60 employees work on the construction of barges and related projects.

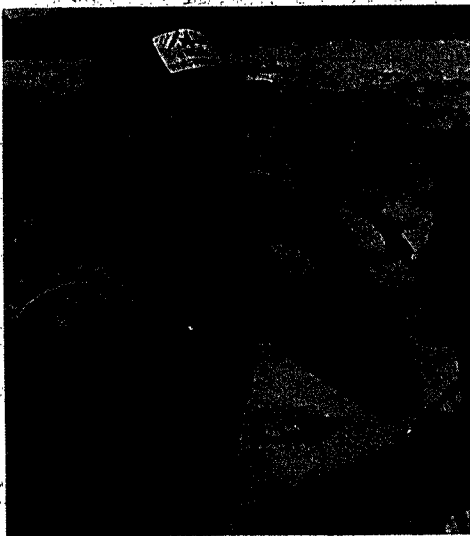

CRAYFISH FESTIVAL - Bergeron Industries, Port Blenville, Pearllington, was the headquarters for a big crayfish feed last Friday. The over 160 employees enjoyed the 'mud bugs' at their third annual event. Bill Bergeron, president of Bergeron Industries, thanked each and every employee for his fine workmanship and dedication to the facility. Mr.

Bergeron told the employees that facilities to construct barges up to 200 feet in length are underway at the Pearllington facility. Currently barges up to 150 feet have been constructed with more than 65 being launched at the Hancock County facility in the past three years.

SOUNDINGS--

A column devoted to measuring the depth of services provided by the City-County Library in Bay St. Louis

By JOE PILET
What ever happened to the Friends of the Library? That's a good question. Glad you asked. Friends of the Library now has on it roster 11 members, and there is $706 in the treasury. As is the custom of the group no regular meetings will be scheduled for the summer months. Members of the executive committee will continue to meet, however, in order to plan and schedule activities and services for patrons of the library.

The Bicentennial Display Case, located to the right of the main entrance of the library, will feature each month a different exhibit. Currently a rare glassware collection is on display, courtesy of Mrs. Dorothy Brown. Some of the scheduled displays include jewelry, gem and minerals, a cruet collection, sand paintings of the world and Christmas Ornaments of all lands. If you have an unusual collection, suitable for display please let us hear from you.

The Library will also display the Plant of the Week. Friends of the Library sponsor this new dimension in recognition of our community's interest in the culture of potted plants.

First plant of the week and now on display was grown by Mrs. Richard Thames.

The Library has a number of excellent books on gardening, plants, etc. Why not browse through the card catalog or ask your librarian for suggestions?

Friends of the Library also plan to sponsor a Planting of the Month display.

Local artists are asked to let Librarian Prima Wusack know of their willingness to participate in order that a time may be scheduled for the display. The purpose of this service is to better acquaint our patrons with the talents of our artists.

When Friends of the Library resume regular monthly meetings beginning in September plans are for interesting and varied programs to which the public is invited.

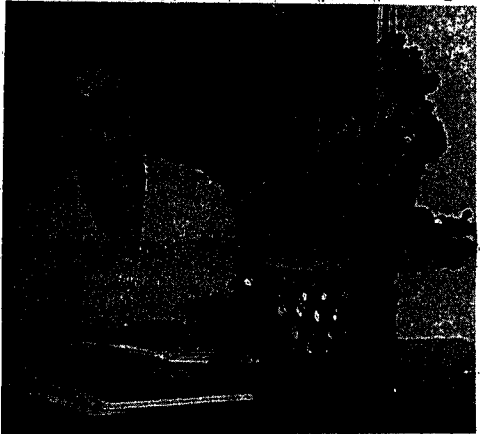

Programs already scheduled include a book review, a musical, a Christmas "Sing-Along," demonstration of sand bottle painting, colored slide narration on restoration of an historical building, and much, much more!

Meetings are to be held to a one-hour limit, dispensing with parliamentary procedures and devoting the hour to entertainment and fellowship with "getting to know you" and "getting to serve you through the library" as main objectives.

A Bay St. Louis resident has been initiated into the Louisiana State University chapter of Phi Kappa Phi national honor society in campus ceremonies held in the LSU Union.

Phi Kappa Phi recognizes scholastic excellence in all academic fields. Membership is drawn primarily from the top 10 percent of the senior class.

Among the initiates was William Ellis Kergosien, who was also one of 29 students honored for achieving a perfect 4.0 average during their freshman year.

Winter declares May 11-17 Historic Preservation Week

Governor William Winter has proclaimed May 11-17 as Historic Preservation Week in Mississippi, to coordinate preservation observances with National Historic Preservation Week, sponsored by the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

Elbert R. Hilliard, director of the Department of Archives and History and State Historic Preservation Officer, witnessed the signing of the proclamation in the Governor's Office. The theme for Historic Preservation Week, statewide and in the nation, is "Preservation: Reusing America's Energy."

Preservation activities in Mississippi are channeled through the Division of Historic Preservation of the Department of Archives and History.

This division administers the National Register program in Mississippi.

Preservationists are emphasizing the economic and energy-saving advantages of recycling or rehabilitating old buildings.

Governor Winter's proclamation emphasizes several advantages of preserving an old building: buildings represent large energy investments in materials and construction; the rehabilitation of existing buildings requires much less than constructing equivalent new buildings; properly rehabilitated old buildings consume no more energy than new ones; the rehabilitation and operation of existing buildings result in a net energy savings compared to their demolition, and construction and operation of a new building; old buildings promote a feeling for history, and a sense of time and place; and the rehabilitation of old buildings creates jobs, stimulates the economy and contributes to the national effort to recycle resources and revitalize cities.

Gifted students workshop slated

The University of Southern Mississippi is offering a High Ability Student Workshop, June 2-6.

The workshop, directed by Dr. Frances Karnes of the Center for Gifted Studies will include activities focusing on the needs of the regular classroom teacher interested in the high ability student.

Registration will take place from 8-9 a.m. in the Lobby of McCombe Hall at USM and classes will meet each day from 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

"We will discuss the characteristics and needs of the high-ability student and how to develop his potential with emphasis on new developments in programs, methods and laws," said Karnes.

For additional information contact Conferences and Workshops, Southern Station Box 5136, Hattiesburg, Miss. 39401 or at (601) 286-4265.

W to host basketball camp

Mississippi University for Women will host its seventh annual basketball camp June 1-6 for girls in the seventh grade through high school. The camp will feature instruction in offensive and defensive techniques, ball handling and game strategy.

Players will also be video taped in action as part of their instruction, according to Dot Murphy, MUW basketball coach and camp director.

Campers will also have an opportunity to participate in other sports such as tennis, swimming and racquetball. In addition to actual skills training, the camp is designed to "inspire campers and improve their interest in the great sport of basketball," Coach Murphy noted.

Cost of the week-long camp will be $85 which includes room, board, camp tuition, entertainment, insurance and a camp T-shirt. The fee for commuters will be $75 per week.

Applications, which should be accompanied by a $20 deposit, are being accepted now.

Prospective campers may obtain applications or additional information by writing MUW Basketball Camp, Box W-1400, Columbus, 39701.

The camp, which will be held in the new Emma Ody Pohl Physical Education-Assembly Building, is operated within the guidelines of the Mississippi High School Athletic Activities Association and the Mississippi Private High School Activities Association and similar agencies in Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Florida and Arkansas.

FISHIN' TIPS

from... Tom Mann

FROM THE MAIL BAG

HOWDY TOM: "I just happen to think that wire weed guards on single hooks spook 'Wary' fish. Is there any other way to make a hook weedless?" UNHAPPY HOOKER.

HELLO UNHAPPY: Well, yes, you can get some small rubber bands at the five and dime store. Loop one through the eye of the single hook and snap the other end under the barb. This works surprisingly well and gives a soft feel when a fish mouths it.

HEY FELLA: "I know where crappies hang out and I've tried all kinds of artificial lures but the only thing I can get them to take is minnows. Am I just dumb?" SKUNKED.

HOWDY SKUNKED: No, but crappies can seem mighty smart. Chances are you are moving your lures too fast. Try reeling a 1/16 ounce white swimmin' grub so slowly you catch yourself dozing off between turns of the reel handle. It works!

DEAR TOM: "I know everybody says crickets are the best bluegill bait, but I get only one bluegill for every ten crickets. Am I doing something wrong?" AGGRAVATED.

HELLO AG: Chances are you're just hooking the cricket through the middle and a bluegill just sucks it off the hook. Try using a long-shank No. 8 hook and first run it through the cricket's breastplate, then bury it in the seat of his pants. It's a dirty trick to play on a cricket but it works!

WHAT OUTBOARD SIZE?

It's interesting to note that today the largest outboard motors are over one hundred times as powerful as the smallest ones!

There's a good reason for this wide range of horsepower offerings. It is to provide proper, safe, economical propulsion to fit the very wide range of pleasureboats available.

Outboard boats now carry capacity plates which set forth recommendations for maximum load and horsepower.

The prime purpose of these plates is to discourage overloading and overpowering.

The boating authorities at Mercury outboards emphasize that it's worth remembering that you do not have to install the largest possible motor on any particular boat.

For example, if you will normally carry a light passenger and fuel load, less than the maximum rated power can still give you performance that is both satisfying and economical.

At the same time, it can be poor economy to install a motor that is too small. It won't propel the hull to full advantage.

If you find you have to run it at high speed to coax even half-way satisfactory performance from the rig, motor life expectancy goes down while fuel consumption goes up.

The basic idea behind the big V-6 motors is that while they have the power needed to boost large boats onto plane, for cruising they can be throttled back so their moving parts are under little strain and their fuel consumption goes down appreciably over smaller motors that are run wide open to maintain equivalent boat speed.

FACTS and FANCIES

Other holes are equally as challenging. The 407-yard, par-4 third hole requires an extremely precise approach to a well-trapped green protected by out of bounds markers and another large lake.

Not all of the holes at Bay Hill are treacherous but all require expert club selection and extreme concentration. Even the 354-yard, par-4 13th hole is described by Palmer as: "One of the more difficult easy holes you'll find anywhere."

shaped green. If a shot is a few feet long, it is gobbled by large traps that leave the player with a blast onto a green that slopes treacherously toward the lake in front.

There are thousands of golf courses in the United States. Of these, less than 50 can host an annual tournament of the PGA tour.

Arnold Palmer's Bay Hill Club and Lodge in Orlando, Fla., home of the Bay Hill Classic sponsored by Brown & Williamson's Rich Lights cigarettes, is one of those. It has everything necessary to make a tournament successful.

The principal attraction, of course, is the 7,100-yard, par-71 layout which wraps around more than 100 bunkers and nine large lakes and water hazards. The finely groomed course spreads over a 260-acre tract that presents even the greatest tour players with some of their most challenging golf shots.

The approach to the 456-yard, par-4 finishing hole, for example, leaves no room for error. If a shot comes in even a few yards short, it lands in a large lake that protects the kidney.
